

November 2007

To whom it may concern,

I am writing on behalf of The Vital Children's Theatre Company of which I had the pleasure of working with this past summer. It was a most positive and easy work experience!

This past July and August, Stamford Center for the Arts, inaugurated its annual Free Summer Children's Theatre for children ages 4 – 12 years old serving children in community centers, day care centers, day camps, social service organizations, youth serving organizations, recreation centers, churches and synagogues... 3 weeks... 6 different theatre companies and 12 different shows. All live...sets, costumes, props, lighting and sound. In our 1,580 seat venue, The Palace Theatre, over 14,000 children attended.

The Vital Children's Theatre Company presented two different productions: "Pinkalicious" and "The Bully", each sending loud and clear messages to all! I was especially impressed by the company's professionalism and ease during their load in, set up, performance and load out. My production crew had nothing to say but, "they were great and that was easy". I found their productions to be well rehearsed, age appropriate as advertised, and of first rate quality.

I would recommend The Vital Children's Theatre Company to any organization! They will certainly be invited back to Stamford Center for the Arts for our second annual Free Summer Children's Theatre Festival.

Sincerely,

Carol Bryan
Director of Education and Outreach